1842 April 18th, Reuben Fowkes was born at Ibstock, Leicestershire, England, the second son of a second marriage of Richard Fowkes (labourer), aged 62 and Mary Barrass (#183,406) His birth certificate states: Market Bosworth 1842, Birth in the Sub-district of Ibstock in the county of Leicester, #483, Eighteenth April 1842 Ibstock, Reuben, Boy, Father Richard Fowkes, Mother Mary Fowkes formerly Barrows, father Labourer, Signature of Mary Fowkes her X mark, Mother, Ibstock, registered Sixteenth May 1842, Registrar J. Bonsat. Reuben's paternal grandparents are said to be Richard and Elizabeth Gamble Fowkes, Maternal grandparents, Edward and Leonora Thompson Barrass.

1850 Sept. 8th, When Reuben was only 8 years old his father died at the age of 70, he was 'worn out'<sup>1</sup>. Reuben used to work for the farmers by weeding the garden or crops and in that way he was quite a help in providing for his mother and only sibling, an older brother Charles (born 29 Nov. 1839). Reuben was paid very little, while his mother used to get rice straw, cure it and then braid the straw into hats that brought good return. She also crocheted little bootees, jackets and other articles, and she would carry these things long distances to other towns to sell. Her hand work paid well and in this way she could help with expenses too. She was a splendid type of person, a fine personality—tall, and a pleasure to talk with her.

1851 Census found the family living at Ibstock - Mary's brother, Robert, was also living next door:

NOTE: Richard Fowkes age 9, has to be Reuben as indicated in later 1861 census' (Ibstock, Leicester, 1851, #0087709, 107/2083 ED 11, Folio 426, page 27 & 28)

1855 Reuben first heard the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints gospel preached on the streets in England and he was baptized in 1855. Because he joined the church he became an outcast among his companions. They felt that he had done the wrong thing, for the Mormon people were looked down upon and were even called a degraded people at that time. He was devoted to his religion and walked great distances to attend a L.D.S. Church conference<sup>2</sup>.

One Sunday morning some of his companions called on him and invited him to go for a walk with them. His mother did not feel right about his going, but finally said he could go. They walked until they came to an old abandon mine, and after walking out on a trestle they pushed Reuben off, ran away and left him for dead. He didn't know how long he lay there but when he came to, he found he happened to land on a lot of loose sand. He had survived the fall with a lot of bruises, a sprained knee and part of his top front teeth were broken off.

It's been said that Reuben received his education as a mining engineer at the Oxford College in England and was a very brilliant man <sup>3</sup>.

1862ish When Reuben reached dating age, he met two Bacon sisters (Elizabeth and Mary) at church. Reuben started paying a lot of attention to Elizabeth who worked in a lace factory as a overseer, and Mary had fallen in love with him. When he left for a few days both girls felt that Elizabeth was his choice but a few days later a letter arrived addressed to "Mary Bacon". Elizabeth claimed the letter but Mary insisted it was hers, so Mary put the letter, unopened, down the neck of her dress and said, "We shall see when Reuben comes again." and there the letter remained 3 days until Reuben arrived on Sunday and verified that the letter was indeed for Mary, telling her that he had fallen in love with her. Elizabeth remained angry for a long time over the situation.

Reuben's sweetheart, Mary was a very tiny young lady, and she could walk under Reuben's arm and not touch it, and she was just 4 feet 11 inches tall! Mary was gifted with sewing abilities and would sew articles for gifts, clothing for people, and was able to earn an income for herself and family.

Mary was born Feb. 8, 1842 at Chesterfield, Derbyshire, England, the daughter of William and Caroline North Bacon, two good, old English families. Her birth certificate states: "Registration District of Chesterfield 1842, Birth in the Sub-district of Chesterfield in the county of Derby, #393, Eighth of February 1842 at Newbold Lane, Chesterfield, Mary, Girl, father William Bacon, Mother Caroline Bacon Formerly North, Father Framework Knitter, Signature of Wm Bacon, Father, Newbold Lane, Chesterfield, registered Twelfth of March 1842 by Samuel Hollingworth, Registrar."

Having come from a family of some distinction, Mary had the right to have the bell on the church steeple ring for her three Sundays in a row as a signal of having been married. The day they were married, the church was packed with friends and relatives.

1863 Apr. 5th, Reuben and Mary Bacon were married at Hugglescote Parish, Leicestershire, England on Easter Sunday. The marriage certificate states: "Registration District of Ashby de la Zouch, 1863, Marriage solemnized at the Parish church in the Parish of Hugglescote in the County of Leicester. #124, Married April 5th, Reuben Fowkes, 21, Bachelor, Pitman, Residence Hugglescote, Father Richard Fowkes Labourer, and Mary Bacon, 21, Spinster, Residence Hugglescote, Father William Bacon, Frame Work Knitter, Married in the Parish church according to the Rites and Ceremonies of the Established Church after Banns. ## REUBEN, MARY & CATHERINE BACON FOWKES

Reuben was about 5 feet 10 inches tall with blue eyes and brown hair, while Mary was small in stature with dark brown eyes and black hair, they made a great looking couple. (Edith Myers) <sup>4</sup>

When Mary's father, William Bacon, joined the 'Mormon' church, his people disowned and disinherited him. His health was poor (he had asthma) and this worked a hardship on his wife Caroline, who in addition was a nurse and went out among the sick a great deal. This left the responsibility of caring for home and her invalid father upon young Mary's shoulders.

Mary had joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints and was baptized Mar. 11th, 1857, at Loughborough, Leicester. As a newly married couple they lived with Mary's parents; William & Caroline Bacon, so that Mary could continue caring for her invalid father who suffered from Asthma.

1865 Aug. 20th, Edith was born to Reuben and Mary at Coalville, Leicestershire, England. Her Birth certificate states: Registration District Ashby-da-la-Zouch 1865. Birth in the Sub-district of Whitwich in the counties of Leicester and Derby. #446, Twentieth August 1865, Coalville Hugglescote, Edith, Girl, father Reuben Fowkes, Mother Mary Fowkes formerly Bacon, Father a Collier, Signature of Mary Fowkes, Mother, Coalville Hugglescote, Registered Eighteenth September 1865 by John Davenport

Edith, was blessed by her maternal grandfather, William Bacon on Sept. 3, 1865. Somewhere along the way she received the addition of 'Elizabeth'....to her name, Edith Elizabeth Fowkes.

1865 Oct. 10th, Mary's father William Bacon died, just less than a month after blessing Edith Elizabeth. "DIED: In Loughborough, Leicestershire, on the 10th of October last, of asthma, Elder William Bacon, aged 53 years." ( Millennial Star Publication, Sat. Dec. 16, 1865, page 800)

1867 Oct. 10th, Esther Ellen was born at Whitwick, Leicestershire, England.

With both of Mary's parents dead, her just younger sister, Elizabeth had previously emigrated with their uncle, Dr. William North, on the "Sunflower" in Aug./Sept. 1864 and settled in Fillmore UT. Her next younger sister, Ann had married John Grimley July 20, 1864, leaving 11 year old Catherine as the only unmarried sibling. Reuben and Mary were very comfortable in their home, Reuben being a respected civil engineer and Mary with a vocation of making men's suits from cloth she had spun. Mary was also a gifted musician with a beautiful singing voice, with two little daughters they talked it over and decided to give everything up and seek their fortune in America. The Fowkes family started to make plans to emigrate to the USA, including Catherine in their plans.

1868 June 30th, Reuben Fowkes 26, Mary 26, Edith 2, Esther infant, Catherine Bacon 14 (really 12) migrated from Liverpool, England to America on the ship "Minnesota" with a company of 534 emigrating Latter-day Saints. Catherine Bacon was changed to the Perpetual Emigration Fund ordered by Pres. B. Young (located at the end of the ship's information, #025,692). Both Reuben 'Fowlks', and Catherine Bacon are listed as being Indebted to the Perpetual Immigration Fund in 1868, (025,686 page 22, 64)

While crossing on the boat, there was a storm at sea and some possessions, mostly of the 'Fawkes' family, were swept overboard. There were a few things that had been tied down and were separate which were saved, including wedding gifts of a cut glass crystal, a sugar & creamer, covered butter dish, and a holder for the spoons in which the spoons were placed upside down. People on board were very good to share with what they had, diapers for Esther and other things to make the Fawkes life a little more bearable for their losses. Very generous and loving gestures on the part of fellow converts who were coming to Zion.

REUBEN and MARY & CATHERINE BACON FOWKES

1868 July 12th, They arrived in New York City after spending 6 weeks on the ocean and traveled by railroad to Fort Laramie, Wyoming which at that time was the terminal for the Union Pacific Railroad Company.

1868 July 25th, Reuben purchased two oxen, a big white one and a big red one and a wagon. They continued their journey across the plains and mountains in the Chester Loveland company (they, however, are not listed on the roster for the Loveland 1868 crossing, but statements of Mary & Edith state it was so). They traveled along the Platt River for days and days. They had to forge the Platt River many times and it was very dangerous because of the quick sand it contained. One young man, the only son of an elderly couple was quite spoiled and disobedient and wouldn't follow the directions of Captain Loveland. He put out into the river alone and was drowned in a whirl pool. They had some good swimmers there but they were unable to find his body. This was a sorrow to all of the company. The "Big Sandy" (which was a mountain of sand), was difficult to cross as the oxen would sink in the sand to above their knees and the wagon wheels to the hubs, and the oxen could only go a few paces at a time. Everyone walked who were able, men, women and children. Most of the way Reuben carried Edith Elizabeth (almost 3) on his back, over the sand. The heat was so terrible that Mary had a sun stroke and lost so much weight that she lost her prized wedding ring in the quick sand and they never found it. She was placed in one of the wagons because she was too weak to walk, her two daughters who were also ill, had to ride in the wagons because of their weakened condition. Wood was scarce and it was difficult to gather even enough to make fires to cook on, however, they were a happy group in spite of all the discomforts with Indians and sickness. They held meetings, sang hymns and had dances along the way to break the monotony of the long journey. In spite of night guards the Indians attacked and caused a great deal of trouble, they had quite a lot of their oxen stolen.

1868 Aug. 20th, They arrived in Salt Lake City on Edith's 3rd birthday with only what they stood in. Disappointment waited the Fowkes family for there was plenty of work to do but no money. Mr. Croxall, who had been on a mission to England and had stayed with the Fowkes' while there, helped them out a lot. He helped them get settle in a small room that joined his home, located at First West between 3 & 4 South Street, belonging to the SLC 7th Ward (#1,750,676). Reuben worked as an engineer on the Mormon Tabernacle and other imposing buildings under construction throughout the city. He also found work on a railroad that was being put through for the Union Pacific tunnel in Weber Canyon as a civil engineer, and other vital construction jobs for the company.

Because Mary was a versatile woman, while Reuben was working, she did all she could to help make some money to feed the family. She was an exceptionally good tailoress and rented a small sewing machine that fastened on a table which had to be turned by hand. She understood tailoring and made suits for the men and lovely dresses with neat seams for the ladies, using the thimble and knitting needles she had brought with her. Mr. Croxall was very good getting work for her from good reliable people so that she bought bed clothes and things that were needed. When she could get an order to sew something from people who could afford it, it helped bring food supplies to the family through trade of potatoes, flour, bacon, fruits, etc., along with necessities.

On one occasion a Mr. Walsh was called to fill a mission in England. He didn't see however he could go because he didn't own a suit of clothes and he had no money. One sister had enough gray wool linsey material she had brought from England she said she would give him and Mary made his suit and a small collection of money was given to him. They were all so united in all that was done. Mr. Walsh went on his mission.

1868 Oct. Just before Oct. General conference Reuben came walking home and Mary saw him coming and went out to meet him. He handed her a few dollars in script, his pay for working on the railroad explaining that the contract had gone broke and that was all they could pay the men. Mary, in her same old cheerful way, said, "Well, we have plenty. We have flour and potatoes, and bacon and everything we need and I have made a new suit of clothes for you so take that money and get you a pair of shoes and then we can all go to conference."

Within Temple Square, 10 acre block (where the Salt Lake City Temple was under construction) was The Tabernacle and The Endowment House, which was located on the northwest corner of the Temple Square. Within these sacred walls the Fowkes adults; Reuben, Mary & Catharine went to be sealed.

1868 Dec. 1st, Reuben and Mary were sealed in the Endowment house in Salt Lake City. Reuben was also sealed to Mary's youngest sister, Catharine Bacon. The records state:

"Reuben Fowkes bn 18 Feb. 1842 at Ibstock, Leicshr, Eng.

Mary Bacon bn 8 Feb. 1852 at Chesterfield, Derby, Eng.

Catharine Bacon bn 27 Feb. 1853 at Loughbrough, Leicester, Eng (really 1855).

1869 SLC Directory lists: Fowkes, Reuben, lab. 7th w(ar)d. 1 W. bet. 3 and 4 S. (979.225E4s 1869 page 106)

During the 1860's federal soldiers prospecting for minerals had found significant coal veins north and over the hill from the Chalk Creek Fort, the fort was later renamed Coalville. The entire canyon precinct was named Grass Creek.

Early Spring 1869 Reuben's started working for William Wallace Cluff, Mayor of Coalville, in the Grass Creek Mine, at a rail-road tunnel near Echo, Utah (RWF). The family moved to Coalville, Summit, Utah area where Reuben secured some land. There was a cliff where a pillar of rock jutting out of the earth and in the very shadow of that, Reuben, Mary and little Edith Elizabeth decided to build their rock house located on Main Street by the banks of the beautiful Chalk Creek<sup>5</sup> which would supply them with water. Using Reuben's stone mason and civil engineer skills and a rock hill close by, he carried large flat rocks, Mary carried smaller ones and little Edith Elizabeth carried small rocks in a bucket or her apron to be used to fill in the gaps between the larger rocks, fitting them all together with mud. There were two windows and a door in the one room rock house, with a fireplace to keep them warm and to give Mary a place to cook. There wasn't any lumber of any kind so Reuben cut cottonwood or willow trees into poles. The smaller tree branches were used for the roof, then covered with dirt, which matched the dirt floor. They didn't have a door or window for the openings but they had some cloth coverings over those until they could afford other things. A log was placed along one side of the room, far enough from the wall so that they could lie down, a log as a foot board and the wall as a headboard for their 'bed'. They went out into the meadows and pulled grass and cured it to put on the ground. Reuben got some straw from a man that thrashed a small amount of grain and used the straw for a mattress, and that was the bed they had to sleep on. They were very poor, they didn't have furniture. The home was quaint enough to be attractive, and being on the bank of the beautiful Chalk creek, it had a picturesque setting, their first realization of happiness and independence in their own home. There was no work to be had so they, along with others, suffered a lot of hardships.

Granite blocks to be used in the construction of the temple. Tabernacle and Endowment House can be seen in background.

In later years a poem was written about the Little Rock House by Catherine Mary Fowkes Ruward. It states:

Little Rock House Catherine Mary Fowkes Ruward

Reuben and Mary built a little rock house,
By the side of a running stream.
It was the first little house they could call their own,
It was the answer to their dream.

The four rock walls formed the only room
And Mother Earth made the floor.
Two windows for light and curtains so bright
And they entered through a door.

Now Reuben knew that he should find wood,
Only the best would do,
To make the table and chairs, bed and shelves,
And a cradle too, for each baby new.

And Mary would cook and clean and sew,
And make candles for light in the night.
Their peace and love surely came from above,
and their family did thrive and grow.

Now this little rock house so dear and quaint
Inspired an artist* to paint.
Many years have passed on, and the house is now gone;
But it lives in our memories.

*The rock house became an inspiration to George Beard, a noted Utah artist who took numerous pictures and painted the Coalville Rock House in various seasons.<sup>6</sup>

REUBEN and MARY & CATHERINE BACON FOWKES

1869 May 14th, Eveline May was born to Reuben and Mary in their new rock house near Coalville, but the folks called her "Hard Times" because she came in the middle of poverty and hardship. When they were ready to bless May they didn't have a bonnet, so Mary tied one of Reuben's handkerchiefs on her head and this served as her bonnet. (Birth records were not required by the territory at this time, therefore the only records available were through the church, and Eveline May is not listed in the Coalville LDS Church records. She was not blest until 1873 in Almy, Wyoming)

Mary couldn't nurse her babies well and they couldn't buy milk, so she boiled rolled oats until they were done, strained it and fed her baby on it. When the baby became fussy, Mary would take a little sugar mixed with water, soak a corner of cloth in the mixture and then let the baby suck on it, it was called a 'Sugar Tit' in those days instead of a pacifier. They didn't have much to eat and when they did have flour, it was made into little round cakes and baked on the fire place which Reuben had made.

Mary would gather reeds, straw from along the streams and byways, cure and weave it into straw hats. She would take the straw hats she had woven to market and trade them for food and such goods as helped make their life better.

Reuben was very active in social work in the Coalville community and especially in dramatic entertainment. He was a fine reader, very humble in what he did and a very good at putting on entertainment. Mary used her skills and talents in each place they lived to contribute to the cultural and religious aspects in the communities. She continued her musical interest by performing for church and organizations and encouraged her daughters to participate in many dramatic productions. Reuben did not take part on the stage, but everything was done under his direction and when sister Kate (Catherine) was to sing, the house would be full to capacity.

Some background is needed for in late Oct. 1869 Brigham Young had decided that the Mormon church should facilitate the building of a five mile narrow gauge railroad from Coalville to the Union Pacific line at Echo, from there the Union Pacific would carry Summit county coal to Ogden. Thus, under the direction of W. W. Cluff, the Coalville LDS bishop, the people of Summit county agreed to prepare the roadbed and supply the ties for the five-mile narrow-gauge railroad. An issue of $250,000.00 in stock was offered, much of that was promised to the people who worked on the project (Hist. Summit Co).

1870 Jan. By the middle of Jan. the men had virtually completed the roadbed preparation, and had held up their end of the bargain, however the Union Pacific didn't. It failed to provide iron for the tracks and work had to be suspended. Due to competition of the new higher-quality coal found on Union Pacific land near Rock Springs, Wyoming, the Mormon authorities decided not to look elsewhere for the rails and so the work on the spur line came to a halt, leaving Cluff's Coalville crew without compensation for their work, one of whom may have been Reuben (Hist. Summit Co).

Mary would walk from her rock home at Coalville, to the little town of Echo, 9 miles north west<sup>7</sup>, where there was a slaughter house. There she got beef and sheep fat to make candles to sell and the kind butcher would also give her liver and small pieces of meat. While she was gone, she left 5 year old Edith to tend to baby May. Mary would tie a little sugar in a clean white rag and tie it up tight with a string, and if the baby cried too hard she instructed Edith to dip the sugar in a little water and put it in the babies mouth and tend her that way until Mary could return from the store. Sometimes Mary was so tired when she got back from that long walk that she just cried. However, Mary would take the mutton fat and render it out by melting it and purify it and put string up into a candle mold. She would dip the wick into the tallow, making the very best kind of pretty white candles. Mary would take the candles to the store and sell them to help pay for the family food that was necessary to buy from the store.

1870 June 22, Census; the Fowkes family are found living at Coalville, Summit, Utah Territory. [However, the census taker, Ed L Butterfield, must have been hard of hearing, very sloppy with names or had other issues as he really recorded the names wrong]

Catherine was not with Reuben and Mary, nor has she been found in the 1870 Census at any conceivable location or spelling.<sup>8</sup>

Reuben quit working for the Cluff Coalville crew as he could not get hold of any money and could just get a few things from the store. He had studied about mining and understood it thoroughly. When the Union Pacific Coal Company heard that Reuben owned a set of surveying instruments, they offered him work as a mining engineer in the Almy, Territory of Wyoming. Wyoming Territory was acquired from France as part of the Louisiana Purchase in 1803 and was first settled in July 25, 1868. Uinta County was just established in 1869 within the Territory of Wyoming. The new mining town was named Almy, Wyoming.

Reuben gratefully accepted the offer and since there was no money to buy transportation he determined to go on foot. Reuben took 2-3 flour cakes or dry biscuits, rolled up and tied a quilt on his back and walked from Coalville, Utah to Almy, Uinta, Wyoming approximately 45-50 miles. As he traveled, when he came to a spring or a stream that looked as if it had good water in it, he would sit down beside it and dip his dry biscuits in the stream to soften them a little so he could eat them, then travel on his way. When he arrived at Almy, his job was waiting for him because there was an old mine that had had a fire in it for some time, and as they were opening new mines Reuben was needed to survey the area for the mining operation for the Union Pacific Railroad. "The mining camp of Almy, which is located on the right bank of Bear River, about five miles north of Evanston. The camp was named in honor of Thomas J. Almy, a leading official of the Union Pacific Coal mine. Prospectors had discovered coal in the mountains near the present site of Almy as early as 1868, before the advent of the Union Pacific Railroad, and the first coal mine afterwards known as Mine No. 1 was opened by the Rocky Mountain Coal and Iron company in 1869. Said company shipped the first coal that year but it was not until 1870 that the real coal traffic was inaugurated" (US Utah H2J).

"Among the men employed to open the mines and later to operate them were a number of L.D.S. coal-miners, who in the summer of 1870 met in the so-called "Old Wyoming Camp." near Mine No. 1, about three miles north of Evanston, and with common consent appointed John Jolley, one of their number to preside over them as an ecclesiastical capacity. They then commenced to hold regular meetings, and auxiliary organizations were also organized” (US Utah H2J). Almy as a branch of the L.D.S. Church was organized in 1870, part of the Bear Lake Stake. Reuben, Mary and Catherine are listed in the early church records of the Almy L.D.S. Branch, with James Bowns as bishop (an emigrant mine worker in 1871 from England (#034,535).

1871 Reuben soon homesteaded approx. 366 acres of land North of Almy, Wyoming and located his ‘ranch’ there. He was able to use his surveying instruments well and helped locate what was to become known as the ‘Fowkes and Knight formations’, all coal-bearing outcrops of coal that comes to the surface about six miles below Almy (Uinta Co, It’s Place pg 89, 126).

From a Rand McNally 2009 Road Atlas<sup>9</sup>, (page 116 of Wyoming) the “Fowkes Ranch” was located about 4 miles east of the Utah & Wyoming boarder along the east side of the Bear River and 12 miles north and slightly west of Evanston, with Almy between the ranch and Evanston. They moved to the ranch when Edith was a young girl, overlooking the Bear River and Reuben was able to take up over a half section of land<sup>10</sup>.

Reuben was the first white man to take a wagon down the east side of the Bear River. The wild hay that was growing along the river bottom was cut and put up, and in the coming years the land was put under, hay and other crops were grown and cultivated. He raised hay which was cut with a scythe, he stocked his ranch with cattle, sheep and horses, raised oxen and taught them to work and sold them to ranchers to plow or pull heavy loads. Edith E. spent most of her time with him there, always with one younger sister for company. Reuben could not go to the ranch very much because of his responsibility at the mines, but he did enjoy it when he could go. He hired Mr. and Mrs. Mort Jackson to run the ranch during the years he was involved with the mines. To start Reuben built a 3 room log cabin to house their family<sup>11</sup>.

When the railroad company got started there was work for every body, especially the ones that were emigrating in. The Fowkes family helped the community grow into a very lovely place. Almy grew so fast the company had to build the first existing boarding house to take care of the working men and the Union Pacific Coal Company asked Mary to ‘manage’ it which was a blessing to the young family. She was able to provide work for herself and children, which helped pay the expenses. Resourceful as always, Mary would sew articles for gifts when she wanted them and was very free with any extra money. Mary used to have an old lady take care of all her babies, sort of a nursery, while she was taking care of the boarding house. She never did any of her own cleaning, she always hired somebody to do it, then she did other type of work or sewing, to earn money to pay for the labor that had been done for her. Edith Elizabeth started her schooling at Almy. The first public school was held in a frame building near the Rocky Mountain store, and A. H. Parson was the teacher (Uinta Co, It’s place pg 130).

There were very few loaded gun shells to buy, so Reuben bought a reloading outfit and would reload empty shells for their hunting trips. Everybody took care of their empty shells and Reuben would get the empty tea containers from the store, which were made of lead. He would break the lead containers into small pieces, put the pieces into an iron ladle and hold it on hot fire coals until the lead melted. He would pour the molten lead into molds which hardened quickly. He had a small measure shaped like a mallet on one end and this measured the powder and buck shot. In the empty shot gun shells he placed the hardened lead, measure of buck shot, measure of powder and a paper wad. The shell was then crimped around the top and ready for use.

1871 Sept. 27th, Caroline Anne (Annie) was born to Reuben and Mary at Almy, Uinta, Wyoming in a two room house. Almy was a fine town and wonderful people lived there, everyone ready and willing to help for the betterment of the mining town. Mary and Reuben both helped in any way possible for the benefit of the public and do practically anything. They were very good singers and sang many duets together.

Reuben was Superintendent of Sunday School and started a home talent group who put on many plays, he never tired of his endeavors to make it a success. He was a live wire civic leader and was loved by all who knew him.

1872 Jan. 28th, Caroline Anne Fowkes was blessed by John Ward (#034,535).

1872 Samuel Fowkes was said to have been born to Reuben and Catherine, (Joseph Valentine Fowkes). Samuel likely died at birth as he was not blessed in the Almy Branch, nor was he buried in the Almy Cemetery. Note: The Almy Branch records (034,535) have some issues where a Pugmire son named Samuel Henry Pugmire was linked to the Fowkes family on the indexes as he was blessed the same day as Caroline - but his parents names were left blank. Because he was listed under the 'Caroline Fowkes' blessing the secretary linked him to the Fowkes listing directly above his name. 1873 Meetings were held in various halls until the erection of the meeting house in 1873, a well build edifice which stood near Number 4 mine.

The rough timber school house was located near Number 4 mine for the children. Mr. Wardel, Superintendent of the Union Pacific Coal Co.'s Number 4 mine, placed Reuben in charge of the mine and would later give him full charge of the property.

1873 Jun. 6th, Mary LeNorah was born to Reuben and Mary at Almy.

A fire occurred in one of the Coal Mine, and in those days the ventilation was not good and when a mine fire occurred, people couldn't work in the mine. Reuben figured out a way to put the fire out, by engineering the water from the Bear River around to where it could be run into the mine. The officials of the mine were afraid that when the water hit the fire there would be a great combustion and further damage would be done. Reuben told them, "No, that wouldn't be the case, if they would just let a trickle of water run down the mine as he prescribed." They finally agreed so the ditch was made, the water was put down in a small trickle, gauged by Reuben as he observed the amount of steam escaping from the mine tunnel. The top official visitor from New York City, Mr. Black, paid Reuben a great compliment, "Mr. Fawkes, no one else could have done what you have done. We appreciate your engineering skill and your knowledge. You have returned the mine into service and have made possible for the employment of the people to continue, and for profits to be made from the mine."

Chief Washakie,
1870's

Chief Washakie and his Shoshone tribe lived and roamed freely through the country in the Almy area. Reuben got along well with the Indians. The Shoshone Chief Washakie and his son would go up the river and often times call on the Fowkes. Reuben and the Chief often ate together, as Reuben would rather feed the Indians than have them run his cattle off. One day the chief arrived and Mary only had one loaf of bread left, which she gave to him. He put the loaf down and said, "No!" He sat in the corner and waited, for he could smell new hot bread cooking in the oven. Mary used to always slice the bread after buttering the end, as she has seen her mother do<sup>13</sup>.

One night Edith and May were bringing the cows home from pasture and the Indians chased and lashed them until Reuben came in sight, the Indians turned and ran.

1874 After the mine was open after the fire, and the men went back to work, they became dissatisfied and wanted more money and went on strike. Reuben met with them and told them that if they continued to strike, the company would get Chinamen to work for them, for half as much as the men were getting now, which was $10.00 a day and a good wage in that time. The miners continued to strike, and as Reuben had predicted, The Rocky Mountain Company was the first to employ Chinamen and brought in about seven hundred. This caused bitter feelings against Reuben, even his life was threatened. He became discouraged and sent in his resignation, but the company would not except it. Bishop Pike told Reuben he should stay on, since he was a big help in giving work to people who emigrated to this country and needed work as soon as they could get it. Reuben was unusual in the consideration of his fellow men. The Union Pacific depended largely upon the Chinamen's labor and at one time there were as many as twelve hundred employed by the two companies. Each big mining company had its store for supplies (Uinta Co, It's Place pg 127) The Chinamen worked the mines at reduced wages, including the mines in the Almy and Evanston areas. Reuben was very displeased about it because it caused a lot of trouble among the different mining groups, for the cowboys were in sympathy with the American workers.

1875ish Reuben had seen some drunk Indians leaving town and knew that they were heading out towards his ranch and he feared some trouble. Reuben was quite a ways behind the Indians and never got a chance to catch up to them. Mark Jacson and his wife were the caretakers of the ranch, Edith Elizabeth and May had gone down to get the cows when they heard the Indians coming so they hid in the willows. The Indians would have passed by without knowing anything about them except the dog, Rover, wouldn't be quiet and drew their attention. The Indians came over and broke the fence down and forced the girls out into the open. The Indians had been drinking and they whipped them with their whips and drove them about two miles, the horses hoofs scraped May's heels and ruined her shoes. After about two miles, May fell in a faint. Mrs. Jackson was making some butter, and the Indians said they wanted some. Mrs. Jacson had a fresh patty so she gave it to them and they were angry and nasty and threw it, hitting her in the chest, nearly knocked her down. She was glad it was fresh pat of butter and not a hard one. The Indians shot one of the dogs and Rover (the barking one who exposed the girls hiding place) they pursued, taking a shot at him but were unable to kill him. Reuben had brought along a Indian tracker who could track better than anybody else. They followed the Indians who used all kinds of techniques to cover their tracks from the ranch. They trailed them until 2 o'clock in the morning and with a moon out they thought they surely would be able to catch them by following their tracks and listening for the sounds of them but they were unable to make contact. Reuben wanted to find them and make them pay full account for their cruelties.

REUBEN and MARY & CATHERINE BACON FOWKES

At one time there was a large encampment of Indians not far away, and there was to be a horse race. The horse race was to be between the Kentucky Colonel blue grass racer, and an Indian pony. The story of the Indian pony goes something like this: a white boy had been promised by his father that he would buy him a pony and when the Indian came, the boy picked out a shiny one, or a tall one, or a sleek looking one. Each time the Indian, being very forth right, would say “No, No”, and finally indicated the pony the father should buy. It was a little unlikely pony with lines that didn’t look as if it were a super animal. It was discovered before long that the pony could outrun all the ponies in the community. It was really fast and finally came to the attention of this Kentucky Colonel. The race day came and Reuben took Edith Elizabeth and they went to the horse race. They arrived early and Edith was invited to visit the squaws. She was told that she should sit on the robes and there was some talk going back and forth but was in the Indian tongue and Edith didn’t speak the Indian tongue. Nevertheless, the hostess was interested in Edith and was trying to be nice, after a few moments she rustled around some of the robes and belongings in the tent and brought out a basket with some dirty crusts in it and offered some to Edith. She didn’t want to take any but felt if she didn’t it would be an affront to her hostess so she took it and kind of held it and munched a little of it. When the signal came for the race to start, everybody hurried out to see the race. The course had been set and the colonel with his tall sleek animal was certain that he was going to win. That is not the way it turned out for the Indian pony won.

1875 Fall/Spring 1876 No. 4 mine was opened by the Union Pacific Company in the fall, with Adolphus Eurgens given the superintendency of the mines at Almy. Reuben was put in charge of the underground work and would hold the position for many years (Uinta Co, It’s Place pg 124,125). Because of the good work in fighting a mine fire, Mr. Woddeall, one of the share holders of the company told Reuben he wanted him to take charge of the mine property from then on. Reuben would open several mines during the upcoming years, and this created lots of worry. This position he would hold until 1887 when he was succeeded as Superintendent by Tailor Ramsey.

1881 Mar. Twenty-nine lives were lost in an explosion at No. 2 mine, twenty of them were Chinamen. A miner who would later become a father-in-law within the family, Charles Beveridge had a miraculous escape. Seeing the flames coming through the trapdoor of his slope he threw himself into a depression between the tracks. His hands and feet were terribly burned but in spite of being crippled he would live a long and useful life as postmaster in a little store he would set up in Almy until his death (1904)(Uinta, Co. It's Place pg 127,128).

There were no hospitals in Almy so often times the boarding house was used as a hospital when men were hurt or burned in the mine, with Mary being nurse or Doctor as needed. When there would be an explosion at the mine, Doctor C. F. Gamble, the mine physician, would come and have Mary for the nurse, and the rooms in her boarding house became rooms for the patients. Mary was a very strict nurse, and when she asked someone to do something, they darn well better do it, and do it right because her standards of cleanliness and nursing had to be followed if the patients were going to get well. Her patients loved her and tried to do the things that Mary told them to do because they knew that she had their best interests at heart. Reuben and Mary took care of the poor and other sick in the camp and did much charity work. Mary could do practically everything and do it well, Reuben worked very hard and had many hardships and troubles.

1881 Historical Society of the Territory of Wyoming states that in December, 1881, The Rocky Mountain Coal and Iron Company shipped 16,694 tons, and the Union Pacific Company shipped 7,734 tons with nearly 600 men working in the mines at that time (Uinta Co. It's Place pg 121).

1881 June 26th, James Wanlass had been a miner in Scotland and it was natural that he should find his way to the mines in Almy, Wyoming. James was received into the Almy Branch 26 June 1881 from 15 Ward S. L. City. Now 35 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall, weighing 160 lbs with a 40" chest (J.W. handwritten LDS Record Book). James came to Reuben and Mary Bacon 'Fawkes' boarding house, hoping to find work from Reuben who was superintendent of the Almy mines. There he saw the dark eyed beauty with gorgeous hair, named Edith Elizabeth Fowkes, very trim, very good looking and he fell in love with her right away. She couldn't stand him, even if he was very handsome and 19 years older than her, she though he was a bigoted Scots.

1882 April Seth Thomas a new emigrant from England, came to Almy and was for some time the foremen at No. 4 mine (Uinta Co, It's Place pg 134). He would steal the heart of Esther Ellen within a few years.

Katherine started to go to school with the other children and they had quite a long way to go. She would carry her small lunch pail in one hand, and in a bag made out of gingham or calico or anything else to carry her book, slate, pencil and trinkets. During the winter the snow was so deep and very cold, everyone had to walk, no rides, no snow ploughs. Even going to church everybody would be there, regardless of walking through the snow. Reuben and Mary were very brilliant and with their practical teachings and by their example taught their children more than any book learning Kate could do.

Mary was tiny in stature, but was as broad as she was tall. The neat home was surrounded by a white picket fence with a board at the bottom of it. A little six year old girl was standing there and Mary was only a head taller and she could just see over the top of her picket fence.

(Found at back of diary this Letter draft) Mar. 1, 1891 "Almy Wyo. March 1st, 1891 SF Corn ... Dear Sir. Dec. 5th, I received yesterday of news of this. In reply I would say I was not able to answer all the questions in the letter, as I will have to refer to my diaries, which are down at the ranch, which I have quite a few notes in them during the time I was treasurer. I will also see the trixters that took hold after my time expired and try and get to see the minutes of their first meeting. Thurs. was a meeting appointed for me to turn everything over to my successor. I was at the place at the specified time, waited over two hours, but could not find any of them around. I finally learned one was at a party, another was practicing with the band. I had traveled six miles from the ranch and had to return at midnight, all for no purpose. I had arranged with Mr. Epperson (for me) to take charge of some mines in Converse County, Wyo. and now anxious to leave every thing all right before I left, in regard to the school business. I left both papers vouchers for my wife to present as soon as she knew there would be a meeting. She sent me word, she had turned everything over to them. Cash in hand was between two and three dollars which they said she might accept as we had been at considerable expense going back and forth to town on school business. My wife turned the papers over to Geo. Peterson. It was him that made that statement in regard to the balance in hand. That was the last I knew of the school business after my term expired, which was July 1888, - until April 1890. I will write you all the particulars, as far as I possible can get hold of, in a few days. Respectfully yours. R. Fowkes."

Sun. March 1st, 1891 Snowing all night, very wet snow. Raining this morning. Me & Dick came down to ranch with coal, commenced to snow, very heavy about noon, very cold. Mon. 2nd, About 12 inch of snow fell last night. Blowing & drifting very bad, about 3 ft. back front of the house. Me & Charles thrashed timothy in the afternoon. Dick sick today. Tue. 3rd, 7 a.m. Fine morning but cloudy. Thurs. 5th, Lille went to a party held at Sam McPhee tonight against Aunt Emma's wish. Fri. 6th, Lille came home about 2 a.m. accompanied by Young McPhee. She abused Mother very bad to Edith's, shut door in her face. Sun. 8th, Made new double tree for Andrew - Put a new shoe on Reeves sleigh. Andrew & Charles took big load of hay to Garitts/ Grants, dumped over on dugway - broke racks back end of bobs sled down. Mon. 9th, Me & Dick went to Almy in cutter - Andrew, went back took a double waggon box full of hay to Thos. Swedden. Storming today very bad, dug out the lower dugway.

(Letter draft found at back of diary) "Judge Corn. Almy March 10, 1891. Judge Corn, Evanston Wyo. Dear Sir: I have done my best to find out in regards to the school business. I was elected to the office of Trustee to succeed Mr. Breman at the general school election held in May 1885. I was Treasurer of the District my whole term which expired at the general election in May 1888. Thos. Snedder succeeded me. Geo. Peterson - John Siers, Thos. Snedder composed the school board - after my term expired. R. L Fishburn, School teacher, audited my accounts a short time previous to my term being out, but the exact time I cannot remember. The report was handed into the board. I have spoken to Thos. Snedder in regard to the minute book and the Fishburn report. He did not have the books, he admitted as having seen the report but did not know where it was now. In reference to my diary of March 14th, 1888, that I came up from ranch to fix school account at that date, found the funds exhausted with the exception of $197.60. Me and my wife went very carefully over the whole account and papers and found a balance on hand as stated above. After this I paid three teachers salaries as follows, Fishburn $80.00, Thos Smith $65.00, Maggie Mutlen $50.00, total $195.00, leaving a balance on hand of $2.60. I never paid anything after this. That $2.60 is what I referred to in my last. I notified Geo. Peterson at the time what was left on hand. Peterson was Clerk at the time, I do not remember of any money being borrowed from Mr. Brennan or any one else during my term. If there was any borrowed it was unknown to me. I never paid anything out, as I can recollect, without a note from Peterson, all papers and vouchers were handed over to Geo. Peterson as I stated in my last. And never had any idea but what everything was all straight, till last April tenth of Court. It is now nearly two years since my term expired, time and many things I cannot call to mind. No doubt but there are papers lost and there may have been changes made in the book since I was in to make it reflect on to me during my term. I do not know as I can say any in regards the matter. I will be over at any time when you send for me. It would be possibly two or three days after you wrote before I got your letter as I am down at the ranch most of the time. I think this is about all I can say in the matter. Yours truly, R. Fowkes."

(Found at back of diary) "Almy April 6th, 1891 E Epperson Esq. Dear Sir, Your dated Mar 30th, received yesterday. In reply I will state the ten 10 acres of land you have heard me speak of located about two or three miles south west of the sixth ward bridge. I don't suppose I will have any claim to it now. It is about fifteen years ago since I arranged for it. I was to pay ten dollars per acre for it in installments of ten dollars. I paid thirty dollars on it. I learned afterwards it would be a long time before I could get water on it and I did not bother any more with it. When I arranged for it, I was told a canal was to be commenced at once and I could get all the water I wanted. The proposed canal was not made for years afterwards and I gave the idea up - as the land at that time was worse with out water. I have just come up from the ranch on the School affair. Everything looks forward, but I will have to pay Judge Corn $100.00 for his service made to me which will cripple us a little, as we intended to pay your request with that money, but we will pay you as soon as we possibly can. I hope you and Mr. Espperson will enjoy your trips. Kind regards to yourself and wife. Yours R. Fowkes."

Apr. Mon. 6th, 1891, Carrie & Charles went back to ranch. Took sawdust down. Me & Mary went down to see Judge Corn in regard to school matters. Andrew & Dick came from ranch, very stormy day & very cold. Andrew went back to ranch on horse back. Dick stayed up here.

(Found Letter draft at back of diary) "Almy April 7, 1891 Mr. Joseph Brown. Dear Sir. You will greatly oblige me if you will pay me the $12.00 due me for rent from the first of February to the first of April as I am needing the money very bad. The rent will be the same as John arranged for - I will give you an receipt as soon as you pay me. You need not do anything by way of repairing the house as you said you had a house at NO 7 (Mine #7) as you could move into. I would like you to vacate the house by the 15th, of the present month as I wish to move into it myself at that time, as we are to crowded here. You need not anticipate any trouble from any one in regard to you paying the rent money to me. I have John's name signed to all the papers. I would like you to take the chickens out of the house so it will have time to sweeten by the time we come down to clean. You will greatly to oblige me by giving this note an early

1892 Feb. 24th, The Deseret Weekly Obituary reads: "At Almy, Feb. 24th 1892, of inflammation of the bowels, Reuben, son of Richard Fowkes and Mary Barrass, deceased was born at Ibstock, Leicestershie, England, Feb. 18th, 1842. He leaves a wife and eleven children to mourn his loss." (026,608 pg 464, Mar 26, 1892) He died of what is known as appendicitis, had just turned 50 years old, and still superintendent of the Union Pacific Mines.

After Reuben's death, Mary took care of the ranch with the help of her children, and one day there was trouble. Some of the ranch property was located across the Bear River. A neighbor by the name of Mr. Whitney was trying to get some of Reuben's ranch away from Mary. He wanted the part that was on the other side of the river and he tried every scheme he could think of to get it. Charley let the cows get away from him and they got over into the part that Mr. Whitney was trying to take away. Mr. Whitney took the cows and put them in his corral and was going to keep them. Charley went home and told Mary about it, she told him to harness up the horse, and hook it up to the buckboard and they'd go see Mr. Whitney. They forded the Bear River and when they got there Mary said, "I have come for my cows, Mr. Whitney," and he said "I can't let you have them." Mary said, "I want those cows and I want them right now!" He said, "No, I'm not going to let you have them because this proves that you were letting the cattle on my side, and on my land, and I am going to keep them." Mary grabbed her new buggy whip, got out of the buggy and approached him. She gave Mr. Whitney a sound thrashing with that buggy whip, she knocked his hat off first, then she whipped all about the shoulders and whenever she could, she hurt him. When she finished she only had half of her new buggy whip. She then drove off to Evanston, where she went to the court house and told the law what had happened and offered to pay a fine of $50.00. The man laughed and said that he had wanted to do that for years, and charged her $5.00 and said that was plenty for a fine. He told her he would take care of Mr. Whitney. As she was going out of the court house, she met Mr. Whitney coming in to make a complaint and she said to him, "It's no use you coming in Mr. Whitney, I have already paid the fine." Mary got her cows back and Charley tried to keep the cows on their side of the river. Mary loved the ranch and used to say that "No one could be nearer the Lord than those who till the soil of this Good Earth"<sup>24</sup>

Almy, Wyoming Cemetery Directions:

From Evanston Wyoming, travel north on WY-89 for almost 6 miles.

Turn left at Moon Way and go about 0.2 miles,

Turn right onto Almy Road 107 (County Road 107) for about 0.9 miles

Fowkes plot is in a fenced in area towards the left rear of the cemetery<sup>27</sup>.

It appears a replacement for 'Mother' 'Father' headstones placed at the east end of the plot with a more recent upright headstone on the west, in the Almy Cemetery which states:<sup>28</sup>

Mary Fowkes - "Mother" Feb. 8, 1842-Mar 9, 1915

Reuben Fowkes - "Father" Feb. 18, 1842 - Feb 24, 1892

Another small granite stone in the lot marked (R.F.[possibly the first marker for Reuben Fowkes])- (#599,291 and fiche #6,104,995[possible explanation]).

Directions to the Fowkes Ranch in Almy, Wyoming (added 2010): From Evanston Wyoming, travel north on WY-89 for almost 8 miles.

Before the highway makes a major turn to the left (west),

Exit onto County Road 103 on the right (by a gas station in 2010)

Continue north about 3.5 miles, down a hill to a creek bottom.

GPS location of homestead: N41 24.692' W111 00.514'

The Fowkes Ranch lies between County Road 103 and the Bear River, including the expansive hay ground along the river. (see map)

NOTE: From Elliott Jay & Ione Fowkes, Wednesday Sept. 22, 1910 - After Reuben passed away, the ranch reverted to Charles M. Fowkes, Sr. Upon Charles death in 1935, the ranch was managed by his son, Charles M. Fowkes Jr. Ranching operations ceased on 15 September 1967 and the ranch was leased to neighbors. Because of liability concerns the three sons of Charles J.; Jay, Gene and Bill, removed all buildings from the ranch. Except for 12 acres on the east side of the original ranch, the ranch was sold in 1980 to Mike Martin who owned other ranches in the area. It is intended that direct Fowkes descendants of Reuben and Mary will own the 12 acres perpetually. Gene owns 4 acres and Jay owns 8 acres as he bought out the 3rd brother Bill, who died of multiple sclerosis and felt his children, all girls, were all connected to Texas, not WY or UT. - The Ranch is located along Hwy 103, about 3 ½ miles where on the left is a large horse barn with gravel road leading to it. The Ranch looks over the valley and Bear River.

The first clue in tracing our family history in England was the multi-colored sampler, hand worked in cross-stitch or needlepoint, by Mary Barrass, mother of Reuben Fowkes. Mary's grand-daughter, Kate F. Sellers, fell heir to the treasured work of art.
